Trauma Interventions in War and Peace: Prevention, Practice, and Policy (International and Cultural Psychology)

Trauma Interventions in War and Peace: Prevention, Practice, and Policy (International and Cultural Psychology)

With traumatic stress an increasing global challenge, the U.N., the NGO community and governments must take into account the psychological aftermath of large-scale catastrophes and individual or group violence. This volume addresses this global perspective, and provides a conceptual framework for interventions in the wake of abuse, torture, war, and disaster on individual, local, regional, and international levels. To be useful to both practitioners and policymakers, the book identifies model programs that can be implemented at every level.
