Autobiography Bill Griffiths, Hugh Popham

Bill Griffiths lost his sight and both hands as a prisoner of the Japanese in Java in 1942. Despite these handicaps, he was determined not to spend the rest of his life in a home for the disabled. This is his story, as told to Hugh Popham, author of "Into the Wind" and "A Thirst for the Sea".

From reader reviews:

Peter Schmidt:

Do you have favorite book? Should you have, what is your favorite's book? Guide is very important thing for us to find out everything in the world. Each publication has different aim or goal; it means that publication has different type. Some people sense enjoy to spend their time to read a book. They may be reading whatever they get because their hobby is actually reading a book. How about the person who don't like reading a book? Sometime, individual feel need book once they found difficult problem or perhaps exercise. Well, probably you should have this Autobiography.

Ryan Brown:

Information is provisions for anyone to get better life, information nowadays can get by anyone from everywhere. The information can be a understanding or any news even restricted. What people must be consider whenever those information which is in the former life are challenging be find than now could be taking seriously which one would work to believe or which one often the resource are convinced. If you have the unstable resource then you buy it as your main information there will be huge disadvantage for you. All of those possibilities will not happen in you if you take Autobiography as the daily resource information.
